

Sustainable Development Goals

Guideline, June 22, 2017 v.2, next review June

LOMGroup is a holding company engaged in several sectors. The Group is focused on being first choice for customers, employees and investors in its core business activities worldwide. As a longstanding follower of the UN Guides, LOMGroup strongly supports all Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and we have set the course for sustainable development across our family of divisions, as part of our Corporate Strategy.

How does LOMGroup contribute to the SDGs?

We connect people and improve lives - in line with our purpose, we are committed to the needs of our stakeholders and our planet, embrace sustainable solutions and aim to become the benchmark for responsible business. For this journey, we have selected focus SDGs, reflecting our company's responsibility and best possible impact on solving sustainable development challenges: Quality Education, Decent Work and Economic Growth, Sustainable Cities and Communities, Climate Action, Partnerships for the Goals.

Many aspects of the SDGs are already incorporated into our corporate activities and programs, which seek to enable trade and economic growth, create jobs, improve access to education, and mitigate climate change. An important way in which our Group contributes to prosperity and wellbeing is by facilitating global trade in a responsible manner, empowering regions to invest in their economies and people to enjoy better lives.

Learning opportunities within our company and beyond

As one of the relevant employers, with a presence in over 32 countries and territories, we seek to make quality education and lifelong learning opportunities accessible for all. We reach out to our approximately 3600 employees and improve educational opportunities and employability of especially young unemployed people outside our Group, in partnership with the organizations like SOS Children's Villages.

GoGreen - climate protection

Mission higher goal: zero emissions

Environmental protection is also high on our agenda. To drive the businesses toward a sustainable future, we are aiming for zero emission 20150. As we continue to expand the use of e-mobility and green delivery solutions in our operations. And as the pioneer in green logistics, we demand more and more from our supplier and transporter especially customized logistics solutions that make our supply chains greener.

GOHELP – Disaster Management

We are also active in the area of disaster management through our NowHelp programs, Areas Ready for Disaster (ARD) and Disaster Response Teams (DRT) in Africa at our operation places, in close collaboration with the UN.

Growing significance of public-private partnerships

As our partnerships reflect, we believe that tackling the increasing social, economic and environmental challenges of today is a shared responsibility of governments, civil society and the private sector alike. We are therefore looking forward to taking action together with our partners in setting the course for sustainable development.
